CHOIR CONTEST YESTERDAY

PRIZES ARE AWARDED FOR LIVESTOCK AND POULTRY.

The attendance at the Davis county fair yesterday was much larger than on the opening day. The people of the county were out in great numbers.

Considerable interest is manifested in the poultry and livestock departments. where there are on exhibition as fine stock as ever were seen in a state fair; indeed many of the cattle and horses shown have been prize-takers in other Utah fairs, and in the east. In the thoroughbred stallion section there are some perfect types of Percheron, Oldenburg and other breeds, and when they were led out to be shown and judged yesterday afternoon the people in the grandstand were privileged to see a living copy of Rosa Bouheur's famous "Horse Fair"

The poultry exhibition is a large one, and in this department Kaysville poultry- Come Let Us Sing"; Layton, Professor For Shorthorn bull, first; Hereford men carried off most of the honors. Ford Brothers of Centerville, James H. Larkins of Kaysville, Ellison Brothers of Layton and T. J. Steel of Clearfield are the largest exhibitors in the cattle department.

Bountiful gardeners are in the lead in the agricultural division, where some fine grains and vegetables are shown. Dry farm products, chiely wheat and barley, which have made Davis county famous as a farming district, naturally forms an interesting section; this interesting section in this department.
The Davis County Primary associations have a room fitted up beautifully with the work of the children who are members of the associations. One interesting exhibit is a model of the first log school house erected in Davis county. house erected in Davis county.

Theodore Lorch, always a Salt Lake favorite, opened his current season's engagement at the Grand last evening to a well filled house, and gave a most pleasing presentation of the old-time favorite, "My Partner." In the leading role of the big hearted miner Log Saunders, Mr. "My Partner." In the leading role of the big-hearted miner, Joe Saunders, Mr. Lorch was all that the part required, and his support, especially the performance of Miss Josephine Deffry, as Mary Brandon, was more than adequate. Mr. Tom Loftus, as Major Britt, and Miss Cecil Fay, as Grace Brandon, are worthy of mention in their respective parts.
